MWONGOZO

The Code of Governance for State Corporations

Issued jointly by:

Public Service Commission (PSC)

State Corporations Advisory Committee (SCAC)

January, 2015

*His Excellency Hon. Uhuru Kenyatta, C.G.H.,
President and Commander - in - Chief of the Defence Forces of the Republic of Kenya*

FOREWORD

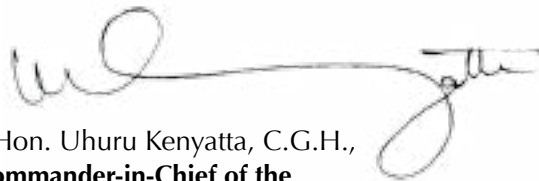

The imperative for Kenya to apply all of her resources to address the national development challenges is as important today as it was at independence. Today, we face increasing demands from our growing population, particularly from young people. There is a clear need to create employment and other opportunities for our people to lead decent and meaningful lives and for our country to trade and effectively tap the emerging resource boom. Mwongozo is my call to all public institutions to operate effectively and efficiently in order to assist our nation to realize our shared goals.

At Independence, we established State Corporations to implement government policies and execute programmes for economic and social development of our country. The Government at that time assumed a greater role in the development of critical sectors of our economy to enhance the participation of citizens in economic activities. However, it became clear over the years, and with new challenges, that State Corporations have not operated at expected levels due to weak governance structures as well as other external factors.

By adopting a transformational mindset in the way business is conducted, Government expects the entities it owns to promote and accelerate economic growth and development, and to drive the social and economic transformation in Kenya. These State Corporations need to support our efforts by building the institutional and technical capacity of the state in facilitating and promoting national development; improving the delivery of public services to meet the basic needs of citizens; supporting the creation of employment opportunities in diverse sectors across the entire country and supporting the nation's regional integration initiatives and international partnerships.

As a major milestone, the Constitution of Kenya, 2010 has taken significant steps to address the question of leadership, governance and management of public resources. The success of State Corporations is premised on the Government's role in ensuring that public institutions are effectively led and managed. To achieve these ends, we have developed Mwongozo, a Code of Governance for State Corporations aligned to the Constitution, that I am proud to issue. We need to implement Mwongozo in order to increase efficiency and accountability in the use and deployment of scarce public resources. Mwongozo allocates responsibilities for supervision, implementation and enforcement to different institutions while respecting the role of complementary agencies.

My Government is committed to the full implementation of all the provisions of Mwongozo and will accord the process all the support required to ensure that State Corporations deliver the expected outcomes that we all desire. I therefore call upon all of us in the public sector to adhere to Mwongozo. My issuance of Mwongozo should not be seen as an end in itself but as the first step towards propelling our governance ethos to the international arena. My Government is particularly eager to ensure that Kenya accedes to the Convention of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) in the near future for purposes of entrenching corporate governance. In this regard, I will shortly be issuing Mwongozo as Regulations under section 30 of the State Corporations Act, Cap 446.

His Excellency Hon. Uhuru Kenyatta, C.G.H.,
President and Commander-in-Chief of the
Defence Forces of the Republic of Kenya
December 2014.

PREFACE

Parastatal reforms currently taking place in Kenya are a deliberate Government response to the need for more effective utilization of public resources in the face of rising societal needs. These reforms are targeted at achieving improvements in public service delivery as part of the wider public reforms. To address the challenges of governance in State Corporations, the Government developed Mwongozo as a critical building block in entrenching principles and values of public service and best practices in corporate governance.

The governance challenges faced by State Corporations are relatively easy to identify. What is needed is clear political leadership and commitment to change. For instance, a high level of political affiliation and insufficient competence in Boards of State Corporations is a result of an opaque appointment process. A professional and independent Board is more likely to safeguard a State Corporation from political interference, lead to more efficient operations through well-defined strategy and ultimately result in increased value-for-money to the shareholders, that is, the public.

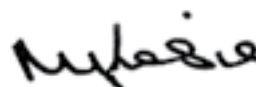

The state as the owner has established its overall expectations and set mandates for State Corporations which have been given operational autonomy and insulated from political interventions. The role of oversight institutions has been enhanced to monitor, consolidate and share information across government. Mwongozo recognizes that the most important tool for improving corporate governance is to appoint professional Boards with well-defined skillset; undertake board induction and evaluation and require regular performance reports. The reduction in the size of the Boards and the increase in the number of independent Board members is therefore a game changer in boardroom affairs.

Mwongozo addresses matters of effectiveness of Boards, transparency and disclosure, accountability, risk management, internal controls, ethical leadership and good corporate citizenship. These practices are at the core of the values and principles of Public Service as enshrined under Article 232 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. Mwongozo further provides a platform for addressing shareholder rights and obligations and ensuring more effective engagement with stakeholders. More importantly, Mwongozo will ensure that sustainability, performance and excellence become the hallmark of management of State Corporations.

Mwongozo lays a firm foundation for the management, governance and oversight of State Corporations. It is firmly grounded in our constitutional values and principles as well as best global practices. Mwongozo builds on gains realized from past reform efforts in the State Corporations sector. It is hoped that implementation of Mwongozo will result in effective and efficient State Corporations that deliver value to Kenyans in a transparent and accountable manner. The Mwongozo framework will lead to a positive impact on the Country's national budget while improving the public's perception of quality and delivery of public service. It is therefore the Government's determination that all the provisions of Mwongozo be fully and meticulously implemented by the State Corporations Advisory Committee (SCAC).

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many dedicated public sector officers and private sector experts contributed to the development of Mwongozo. It is not possible to list by name every person and institution whose ideas, expertise and time went into the production of Mwongozo. However, the following deserve special mention.

High commendation goes to His Excellency The President, Hon. Uhuru Muigai Kenyatta, CGH, for the honour and trust bestowed on the Parastatal Reforms Implementation Committee to spearhead the reforms in the State Corporations Sector. His Excellency The President conceived the structural transformation, which led to his appointment of the Presidential Taskforce on Parastatal Reforms. He subsequently adopted the Taskforce Report and the wide ranging reform recommendations. He steered the reform process further through regular follow up, and gave direction for the development of Mwongozo.

Mwongozo is ultimately an integral part of the reform recommendations developed by the Presidential Taskforce on Parastatal Reforms that was co-chaired by Hon. Abdikadir Mohammed and Mr. Isaac Awuondo. The bold and radical reform measures that the Taskforce recommended heralded the birth of Mwongozo.

Many thanks also go to Mr. Joseph Kinyua, CBS, Chief of Staff and Head of the Public Service who ably took up the mantle of chairing the Implementation Committee appointed by H.E The President to oversee the implementation of the recommended reforms. Indeed Mwongozo is a critical output of the implementation process. The Chairman led a dedicated team that tirelessly put in their best to ensure that all the provisions in Mwongozo are sound and consistent with international best practice. The membership of the Committee comprised of Ms. Marianne Kitany, Dr. Kamau Thugge, Hon. Abdikadir H. Mohamed, Mr. Stephen Kirogo, Mr. Isaac Awuondo, Mr. Nelson Kuria, Dr. Mbui Wagacha, Dr. Korir A. Sing'oei and Ms. Christine Agimba. The Secretariat was headed by Mrs. Jane Mugambi while the Joint Secretaries were; Mr. Simon M. Indimuli, Mr. Hamisi M. Williams, Ms. Grace Wandera, Dr. Eric Aligula, Mr. Alexander George Owino, Mr. Brian Ikol, Mr. Morris Kaburu and Ms. Catherine Ochanda.

The Public Service Commission (PSC) under the Chairmanship of Prof. Margaret Kobia reviewed the Code to ensure that it promotes the values and principles set out in Articles 10 and 232 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010.

We are also thankful to the Chairman of the Constitutional Implementation Committee for validating the values and principles in Mwongozo and providing for these under the Government Owned Entities Bill, 2014 which was reviewed by the Commission. Towards this end, the Vice Chairperson, Dr. Elizabeth Muli, convened various round-table sessions and her professionalism in the exercise was exemplary. The World Bank team, led by Alexander Berg provided valued benchmarks, thereby enriching the Code.

The State Corporations Advisory Committee (SCAC) through its Chairman Mr. Arthur Namu and the Secretary, Mrs. Jane Mugambi, was critical in facilitating the entire process. SCAC engaged the Institute of Certified Public Secretaries of Kenya (ICPSK) to assist in the development and validation of Mwongozo. The Institute, being the legally recognized professional corporate governance body in Kenya, guided the professional development of Mwongozo under the chairmanship of Ms. Catherine Musakali, who tirelessly engaged with various stakeholders to ensure that the provisions in Mwongozo are acceptable and conform to international standards.

“Good governance must be well coordinated and orchestrated.”

INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

Corporate governance is the structure and system of rules, practices and processes by which an organization is directed, controlled and held accountable. It encompasses authority, accountability, stewardship, leadership, direction and control exercised in organizations. Corporate governance essentially involves balancing the interests of the many stakeholders in an organization. These include its shareholders, management, customers, suppliers, financiers, government and the community. Corporate governance also provides the framework for achieving the objectives of the organization, and creates benchmarks for the measurement of corporate performance and disclosure.

The weak financial performance of the majority of SCs in Kenya has been attributed to an inadequate governance framework. The Presidential Taskforce on Parastatal Reforms noted in its report that SCs operate under a governance structure that was complex, involving relationship between Parliament, Ministries, Boards and CEOs. This complexity has been a source of confusion and conflict, particularly in the allocation of responsibilities, and in accountability for results. The improved performance and viability of SCs will require the development of an appropriate governance framework.

In recommending the development of a consolidated code of governance for SCs, the Taskforce identified the challenges that needed to be resolved. These were set out as: absence of a clear framework for recruitment, selection, appointment and inductions of Boards of SCs; lack of uniformity in the application of appointment procedures; inadequate induction processes for Board members; lack of proper skills mix and bloated Boards; shortcomings in the process of appointment of CEOs; lack of understanding of the role of Boards by directors; and fusing of the roles of the Chief Executive and Board Secretary.

This Code of Governance is anchored on the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. Article 10 of the Constitution entrenches national values and principles of governance while Article 73 places emphasis on public trust, honor and dignity of public offices. Personal integrity, and values and principles of public service are reinforced in Article 232, which also provides for efficiency, effectiveness and economic use of resources. The Code takes into consideration Chapter Six of the Constitution on Leadership and Integrity as well as the Public Officers and Ethics Act, 2003.

The achievement of Vision 2030, Kenya's long term development blue print requires full, transparent and accountable participation of SCs. Good corporate governance is therefore crucial in transforming SCs into engines of economic development and social wellbeing in the country. Further, good corporate governance promotes value enhancement for stakeholders including the public and the governments, thus ensuring that benefits flow to every aspect of the economy. Good corporate governance in the public sector in the country will result in accelerated development and fast track the transformation of the Kenyan economy into a newly industrialized country by 2030.

Global best practices demonstrate the strong linkage between good governance and enterprise growth and profitability. The institutionalization of good governance practices in the leadership and governance of SCs is therefore expected to spur growth, development, employment creation and economic transformation of the country.

In recognition of the mandate and the role of the Institute of Certified Public Secretaries of Kenya in championing good corporate governance, the Implementation Committee of the Presidential Taskforce recommendations requested the State Corporations Advisory Committee jointly with the Institute to develop the Code of Governance for SCs. The Code takes into account the national context of the economic, social and political development, particularly, Vision 2030; and the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. It also includes lessons learned from international best practice in good corporate governance.

This Code of Governance therefore seeks to improve the governance of SCs by addressing the challenges identified by the Taskforce, and to pro-act to international best practice in corporate governance. In this respect, the Code incorporates lessons learned in the development of similar codes in United Kingdom, South Africa, Malaysia, Singapore and India. Specific provisions in the Malaysian Code of Corporate Governance, (2012), the King Code of Governance for South Africa (King III), (2009), and the SCAC Guidelines (2004), have been reviewed for their relevance to Kenya's SCs. Appropriate principles and practices have been incorporated in this Code, with modifications as necessary. Reference has also been made to the Corporate Governance Regulations of the Capital Markets Authority (CMA) and relevant principles and practices adopted, as necessary. This Code has incorporated some principles benchmarked from best practices by the SCAC Taskforce (2011) from China, South Africa, Singapore and Malaysia.

The Corporate Governance framework developed into this Code embodies the six principles of good governance developed by OECD, and which are now global benchmarks for corporate governance principles. These are: ensuring the basis for an effective corporate governance framework; the rights of shareholders and key ownership functions; the equitable treatment of shareholders; the role of stakeholders; disclosure and transparency; and the responsibilities of the Board. Further, the Code also takes into account the 2005 OECD Guidelines on Corporate Governance of State-Owned Enterprises, which were meant to cater for governance of state corporations. The governance guidelines include requirements that: State-owned enterprises should observe high standards of transparency in accordance with OECD principles of corporate governance; the boards of state-owned enterprises should have the necessary authority, competencies and objectivity to carry out their function of strategic guidance and monitoring of management; and members of the Board are required to act with integrity and be held accountable for their actions.

This Code of Governance is organized into eight chapters as follows:

- Chapter One - The Board of Directors
- Chapter Two - Transparency and Disclosure
- Chapter Three - Accountability, Risk Management and Internal Control
- Chapter Four - Ethical Leadership and Corporate Citizenship
- Chapter Five - Shareholder Rights and Obligations
- Chapter Six - Stakeholder Relationships
- Chapter Seven - Sustainability and Performance Management
- Chapter Eight - Compliance with Laws and Regulations

Each Chapter has an overarching governance statement; the principles, which are the underlying basis of the governance parameter; and the practices, which are the drivers of good governance in SCs.

This Code will be implemented on a “comply or explain” basis. The “comply or explain” approach recognizes that at the implementation of Mwongozo, SCs will be at different levels of compliance with corporate governance norms. This approach therefore allows organizations time to fully comply at a pace that is realistic in their circumstances and to learn from the experience of others, whilst at the same time taking responsibility and ownership for any non-compliance. While full compliance is expected, the approach positively recognizes that a satisfactory explanation, coupled with a roadmap to full compliance will, in certain circumstances be acceptable. This requires that the disclosures for non-compliance will need to be detailed and Boards will be held to account for any explanations given.

In the event that the provisions of this Code are in conflict with any sector specific code of governance, the higher standard shall prevail.

“Peace, Love and Unity is the bedrock of good governance that propels us to greater heights of performance.”

CONCLUSION

The objective of this Code of Governance is to promote the practice of good governance in the SC sector in Kenya. Implementation of the principles and practices will not only ensure sustainability of the organizations but will also contribute to accelerated national development for the benefit of Wanjiku. The Code is aligned to the Constitution of Kenya and international best practices. It is expected that the Code will assist the Boards of SCs to establish and enhance governance systems that will ensure the efficiency and effectiveness of the organizations.

This Code places an obligation on the Board, the Chief Executive Officer and the Corporation Secretary to promote good governance practices. It is envisaged that Board members and the Chief Executive Officer will take responsibility for full compliance with the Code. The Corporation Secretary, who is a professional on matters of governance and compliance, will be a key asset in assisting the Board to comply with the governance requirements set out in the Code. Governance tools have been developed to assist the Boards in the implementation of this Code including the Board Charter, the Code of Conduct and Ethics and Board Performance Evaluation Tool.

This Code is applicable to all SCs. It addresses specific dimensions of governance and has therefore, the potential to transform the governance of public institutions. For this to be realized, however, the Code should be fully implemented. The Code should be reviewed at least every five years to respond to the changes in the national and global environment. The practices of governance should, in particular, respond to the changing dynamics in the field of corporate governance.

ANNEXURE II

CODE OF CONDUCT AND ETHICS

1. Background

1.1 Introduction

The Code of Conduct and Ethics for State Corporations (SCs) focuses on ethical conduct and integrity at the workplace. It defines SC's commitment to the highest standards of behaviour so as to contribute to the achievement of the national development goals.

The Code sets out expectations for individual behaviour necessary to meet these standards and includes requirements and guidance to help you to carry out your role with integrity and in compliance with the law.

The Code cannot cover everything; it is therefore essential that you understand applicable laws and detailed policies that are relevant to your role. It is also important that the Code is not used as a substitute for the good judgment expected of Board members and employees working for any SC.

1.2. Objective

By exemplifying the ethical behaviours and corporate values described in the Code, the organization will continue to uphold Article 10 of the Constitution of Kenya on National Values and Principles of Governance and Chapter 6 on Leadership and Integrity.

1.3. Application

This Code applies to everyone in the SC – every Board member and employee – and also to contract staff. Adherence to the values in this Code is a condition of Board appointment or employment of staff.

A breach of this Code will result in disciplinary measures being taken, including separation from the SC.

2. Values

2.1 Respect for People

Board members and employees are entitled to work in an environment in which people are treated with respect. Board members and employees must therefore avoid actions or behaviours that are or could be viewed as harassment and are required to treat all people with respect, dignity and fairness.

2.2 Integrity

Board members and employees are expected to act with integrity by consistently upholding the highest standards of honesty and truthfulness. They should not use their positions to inappropriately obtain an advantage for themselves or to advantage or disadvantage others; and should take all possible steps to prevent and resolve any real, apparent or potential conflicts of interest between their official responsibilities and their private affairs.

2.3 Transparency and Accountability

Transparency of operations, planning and reporting and a clear accountability framework are fundamental principles that underlie good governance. It is expected that Board members and employees will work together in a spirit of openness, honesty and transparency. This will encourage engagement, collaboration and respectful communication.

2.4 Stewardship

Every Board member and employee is responsible for using appropriately the assets entrusted to them. They are responsible for safeguarding the assets against waste, loss, damage, misuse, theft, misappropriation or infringement, in order to protect their value.

All transactions of the organization must be reflected accurately and fairly in the books of accounts. Falsification of asset records or misrepresentation of facts will constitute fraud.

2.5 Excellence

Board members and employees shall demonstrate excellence by providing fair, timely, efficient and effective services to the public. They should exercise high levels of discipline and commitment in the performance of their duties. They are also required to continually improve the quality of policies, programs and services by fostering a work environment that promotes teamwork, learning and innovation.

3. Conflict of Interest

Board members and employees must avoid conflicts of interest between their private activities and their part in the conduct of the organizations business.

A conflict of interest may arise where a Board member, employee or close family member such as a spouse, child, parent or sibling has private interests that could improperly influence the performance of the Board member or employee's official duties and responsibilities. Conflict may also arise where a Board member or employee uses their office for personal gain.

A real conflict of interest exists at the present time. An apparent conflict of interest could be perceived by a reasonable observer to exist, whether or not it is the case, and a potential conflict of interest could reasonably be foreseen to exist in the future. A conflict of duty arises, not because of an employee's private interests, but as a result of one or more concurrent or competing official roles. For example, these roles could include the employee's primary employment and his or her responsibilities in an outside role that forms part of their official duties, such as an appointment to a board of directors, or other outside function.

3.1 Prevention of Conflict of Interest

Board members and employees maintain public confidence in the objectivity of their service by preventing and avoiding situations that could give the appearance of a conflict of interest or result in a potential or actual conflict of interest. In addition, Board members and employees are required to observe any specific conduct requirements contained in the statutes governing ethical behaviour and their profession, where applicable.

It is not possible to foresee every situation that could give rise to real, apparent or potential conflict of interest, however, where conflict arises, the Board member or employee should:

Excuse themselves, or anyone who works for them, from any decision-making that may create a conflict of interest with their private interests;

- (a) Disclose in writing, to the relevant authority the facts and explain the circumstances that create or could create the conflict of interest;
- (b) Seek guidance from the immediate authority;

- (c) Seek additional legal or financial guidance if you are a Board member;
- (d) Conduct your relationship with contractors and suppliers in a professional, impartial and competitive manner;
- (e) Refrain from the direct or indirect use of, or allowing the direct or indirect use of organization property, for anything other than officially approved activities;
- (f) Maintain the impartiality of the public service and not engage in any outside or political activities that impair or could be seen to impair their ability to perform their duties in an objective or impartial manner;
- (g) Be aware that the acceptance of any offer of future employment including consultancy or directorship with a contractor, supplier, customer or business partner constitutes a potential conflict of interest;
- (h) Ensure that concurrent outside appointments, such as to a Board of directors, are managed appropriately and that any resulting conflicts of duties are resolved in the public interest; and
- (i) Declare to the relevant authority, a benefit or income received either directly or indirectly from a contract with external parties on contractual or other arrangements. The relevant authority will determine whether the arrangement presents a real, apparent or potential conflict of interest, and may require that the contract be modified or terminated.
- (j) Similarly, a Board member or employee should not:
 - o Get involved in the hire, supervision, management or career planning of any relative;
 - o Make improper use of one's position or of confidential information gained in that position to achieve personal interests or direct gain;
 - o Allow relationships with contractors and suppliers to influence business decisions made on behalf of the organization; and
 - o Accept gifts or inducements, including hospitality that may place you under an obligation.

3.2 Use of Information Communication Technology

Organizations recognize the importance of the use of Information Communication Technology (ICT) tools to conduct business and interact with stakeholders. Use of social networks in an official capacity must comply with the legislative requirements and the organization policy on the use of the internet and electronic networks. Board members and employees using ICT for personal or professional use are expected to exercise the same kind of judgment and criteria as would be applied to any other workplace decision.

3.3 Gifts, Hospitality and other Benefits

Board members and employees should not accept any gifts, hospitality or other benefits that may have a real, apparent or potential influence on their objectivity in carrying out their official duties and responsibilities or that may place them under obligation to the donor.

As a general rule, Board members and employees should not accept gifts or other advantages except as set out in the Public Officer Ethics Act, 2003 and any other relevant statutes and policies.

3.4 Solicitation

With the exception of fundraising for officially supported activities such as those relating to corporate social responsibility, Board members or employees may not solicit gifts, hospitality, other benefits or transfers of economic value from a person, group or company who has dealings with the organization. When fundraising for supported official activities, Board members or employees should ensure that they have prior written authorization from the relevant authority in order to solicit donations, prizes or contributions in kind from external organizations or individuals.

3.5 Register of Conflict of Interests

The organization shall maintain a register to record conflict of interests.

4. Whistle-Blowing

Any person who has reason to believe that a Board member or employee has not acted in accordance with this Code should bring the matter to the relevant authority or the appropriate government agency.

The organization should not retaliate nor tolerate retaliation against any person who brings an issue to its attention in good faith.

5. Resolution

Board members and employees are expected to adhere to this Code. The Board members and employees are expected to resolve issues in a fair and respectful manner and consider informal processes such as dialogue or mediation.

In the event of an ethical dilemma or dispute, Board members and management may seek advice and support from other appropriate sources such as the Ethics and Anti-Corruption Commission (EACC), and any other oversight body.

ACCEPTANCE

I agree to the terms of the organization's Code of Conduct and Ethics, which forms part of my Board appointment or contract of employment. I have read and understood the Code and agree to abide by its provisions.

I understand that any breach of its provisions will render me liable to appropriate disciplinary action.
